The Jordan Times Tweet By Ian Roberts Mitigating climate change presents unrivalled opportunities for improving human health and well-being. Indeed, policies to reduce greenhouse-gas emissions promise to bring about substantial reductions in heart disease, respiratory illness, cancer, obesity, diabetes, depression, and road deaths and injuries. These health benefits arise because climate policy necessarily affects...

General Motors to pay $4,000 bonuses to hourly workers 2011-02-15 read more

The Dallas Morning News DETROIT — Less than two years after entering bankruptcy, General Motors Co. will extend millions of dollars in bonuses to most of its 48,000 hourly workers as a reward for the company's rapid turnaround after it was rescued by the government. The payments, disclosed Monday in company documents, are similar to bonuses announced last week for white-collar employees. The bonuses to 76,000 U.S....
